Guidelines for applying under a binding early decision process have been defined by the National Association for College Admission Counseling's Code of Ethics and Professional Practices (CEPP):

“Early Decision (ED): Students commit to a first-choice college and, if admitted, agree to enroll and withdraw their other college applications. Colleges may offer ED I or II with different deadlines. This is the only application plan where students are required to accept a college's offer of admission and submit a deposit prior to May 1. While pursuing admission under an Early Decision plan, students may apply to other institutions under a Standard or Early Action Application plan, but may have only one Early Decision application pending at any time.”

If you apply Early Decision to St. John's, you may not apply Early Decision to another college while your St. John's application is pending. If you are admitted Early Decision at St. John's, you must immediately withdraw applications submitted to other colleges and make no additional applications to any other college in any country. If you are admitted Early Decision and are seeking financial aid, you do not need to withdraw other applications until you have received notification about financial aid from St. John's.

I wish to be considered as an Early Decision candidate at St. John's College. I have read and understand the rights and responsibilities under the Early Decision process.
